PINT OF SCIENCE

A groundbreaking global festival around the world

More than a round table or a conference, the festival enables researchers to meet the public in the relaxed atmosphere of pubs, to talk about subjects ranging from neuroscience to astrophysics.

This is your chance to meet in real life, the people in charge of the future of science.

PINT OF SCIENCE

Our only mission

Demystify scientific research and share it with the public in a relaxed atmosphere.

Because in a lab it's not always like in CSI.

PINT OF SCIENCE

What we do

The Pint of Science festival aims to deliver interesting and relevant talks on the latest science research in an accessible format to the public – mainly across bars and pubs.

We want to provide a platform which allows people to discuss research with the people who carry it out and no prior knowledge of the subject is required. It is run mainly by volunteers and was established by a community of postgraduate and postdoctoral researchers in 2012.

Pint of Science is a social enterprise and non-profit organisation
